

NORFOLK MAY GET SCHOOL

CITY IS AFTER ONE OF NEW JUNIOR NORMALS.

ARE TO BE EIGHT IN THE STATE

As Soon as the Telegram Was Received by The News, President Burnham of the Commercial Club Was Notified and Took Steps for City.

Norfolk may be one of the eight Nebraska cities designated as locations for junior normal schools to be built. The bill providing for eight new junior normal schools has passed the state senate and but three of the locations are designated in the bill. These are Valentine, McCook and Alliance. Five locations are to be determined upon later.

Steps have already been taken by the Norfolk Commercial club toward the selection of this as one of those eight cities for a junior normal school. When telegraphic information of the senate's approval of the bill was received by The News, President C. E. Burnham of the Commercial club, who was selected as a committee to look after Norfolk's needs in the state legislature, was notified and telephoned to Senator Randall at the state house in Lincoln and called his attention to the ideal location of Norfolk for such an institution. All that can be done will be done by the Commercial club, it is said, toward getting this city designated as one of the unnamed five points.

$100,000 FOR HOSPITAL

BILL IS INTRODUCED BY REPRESENTATIVE ALDERSON.

TO IMPROVE INSANE HOSPITAL

Senator C. A. Randall Will Take the Bill as Soon as it Gets Through the House, and Rush It Through the Senate—Effective Efforts.

A bill appropriating $100,000 for improvements at the Norfolk insane hospital was introduced during the day in the house of representatives at Lincoln by T. E. Alderson, representative from Madison county, according to a telephone message from C. E. Burnham, president of the Commercial club and legislative representative of that organization. This bill, it is said, will be rushed through the house and go soon to the senate, where it will be given the vigorous attention of Senator C. A. Randall of the Eleventh district.

These two legislators, together with their friends from other parts of northern Nebraska, are working enthusiastically for the needs of this section of the state, as well as for the state at large and much effective legislation is resulting from their efforts.

The announcement just made by the state university regents that they will be willing to buy text books to either sell or rent to students, and that they are anxious to hold open meetings, is a result of active work on the part of Senator Randall, who has had this progressive step in mind for some time. His theory is that students ought to be given books just as cheap as possible and that the university, which is supported by the state, ought to provide books at cost; and that the university, on the other hand, ought to have enough money to run it decently.

STATE PRIMARY PLAN.

The Scheme Submitted to the Nebraska Legislature.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 19.—Special to The News: The Minnesota primary plan, submitted to the state legislature, is in brief as follows:

Before the voter will be permitted to cast his ballot in the primary, he must state his party affiliation and he will then be handed the ticket of the party named. If he refuses to name his party, he will be denied a vote. If his vote is challenged, he must swear that he affiliates with his party and that he will support its nominees.

The campaign committees, of the respective parties shall, under the proposed bill, be selected by the candidates and the platforms shall be formulated by the candidates who shall assemble in Lincoln for the first time on the fourth Tuesday of September, 1908, for this purpose. The platforms shall be written by the candidates, biennially. The congressional and district committees shall be appointed by the candidates for congress and for district judge. The present campaign committees of all parties shall be permitted to remain in office until their successors are appointed or elected.

The machinery of the law under which the primary is to be carried out is made by the bill to correspond with that of election. The same judges and clerks shall preside at both contests and the ballots are to be made to conform to the same general shape and form. Voters must register in the same manner as for election. In every way, the bill attempts to keep close to the form of election so that both voters and officials have little that is new to learn.

The fees that the candidates shall be charged vary as follows: For state offices, $100 each; for congressional and district offices, $25; for members of the legislature and county offices, $10. In the meeting of the joint committee Friday evening to consider the bill, Senator Patrick of Sarpy county made a fierce attack on this feature of the bill, claiming that the charging of fees is contrary to the spirit and letter of the constitution and stated his determination to fight this provision of the bill on the floor of the senate.

The primaries shall be held on the first Tuesday in September for the nomination of all officers except those of village and township and school district. City primaries of Omaha and Lincoln for elections of city officers shall be held five weeks prior to election while in the other cities of the state, the primaries shall be held four weeks prior to election. At least sixty days before any September primary is held, the governor must issue a proclamation announcing the offices to be filled at the next election and shall send a copy of this proclamation to each county clerk. Within ten days after receiving the proclamation, the county clerk must post and publish notice of the primary in exactly the same manner as he does that of an election.

To Kill Fusion.

The name of no candidate shall be printed on the ballots of two parties. This will kill fusion in the state, it is thought. At the final meeting of the joint committee, the fusionists declared that the primary law was drawn to kill fusion and Dodge, the author of the bill, stated that he believed fusion would be impossible under the new law if enacted. The candidates must file their names with the county clerks at least thirty days before the primary. For officers elective in more than one county, presidential electors and members of congress, the nomination papers shall be filed with the secretary of state and the county clerks of the counties concerned shall receive notification from the secretary of state.

On the fourteenth day before the primary, the county clerk shall group the names of the candidates of the respective parties by themselves and place them on their respective ballots in alphabetical order. Where it appears that there are more than five candidates for any one office, the printer must rotate these names for every 1,000 ballots. The rotation will be accomplished by lifting the name of the first man after 1,000 ballots have been printed and placing it at the foot of the list. The ballots shall be so arranged for the primary officers that no two ballots exactly alike shall appear together.

SPORTS

TROUBLE FOR ANSON.

Chicago's Indignant Citizens Do Not Want a New Ball Field.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—War has been declared on "Cap" Anson and his proposed semi-professional baseball park. "Before he spends 5 cents on his stands an injunction will be sought in the courts to stop him from building a ball park in this residence district," declared Charles T. Haas today. "This will be done by the West Woodlawn Property Owners' Protective association. The decision to oppose the erection of the ball park was reached at a meeting last night at the house of President Miller.

"Our association is the one that four years fought the Washington Park race track. Now that this is gone and the land is cut up into a subdivision, we believe the property owners will aid us in this fight.

"We do not plan to go to the city and ask protection. We know how strong Anson is politically. We understand an ordinance is to be presented to favor his plan soon.

"We will try to enjoin the city from issuing an amusement permit and later, if that fails, we shall ask that these men be prevented from breaking the fire ordinance in the erection of wooden grand stands. We plan to fight Anson every step of the way, and I doubt if he can play a single game of ball there this year."
